TARPAULINE.

A RESTOR OF BURE. A pretty picture is it not. Beneath the awning of the yacht?

A beauty of eluteen, She wears a trim tarpunline hat, So now you know the reason that I call her Tarpauline

A "taut" serge dress of Navy Blue, A boatewain's eliver whistle, too, She wears when she's affeat; An open coller, and I wot, A veritable suitor's knet

Around her pretty throat. She has a glance that pleads and kills; And, said her sky and snowy frills A little foot appears; She has the softest sunny locks,

The compass she knows how to box. And, when it's needful-ears; The amartest little sallor-girl, Who'll steer or "bear a hand" or forl. And I am told she oft.

Desires to reeffier pettiensts. And gleefully to "girl the boats, Or glibly go wloft!" But now how latily she lies?

And from her wins one watchet eyes Unutterably awast! While enugly 'neath the bulwark curied, Forgetting all about the world, The World is at her fest !

With tiny shapely, brown, brown hand, She note the solemn Newformilland Who crouches at her side. She's thinking -not of me or you, The ispping of the tide.

O, were I skipper of that ship, I'd sail upon a long, long trip, For change of air and spene-The world I'd circumnavigate, With such a darling for first mate As bonny Tarpanline!

A young man from Auburn, N. Y., who went to the Black Hills this Spring, has telegraphed to his father : " Fatted calf for one."

The health of Mr. Spurgeon, the great London preacher, it is feared, is seriously impaired. His last trip to the continent did not restore his health.

tough. " Dere is look out," he says, " which is to put out your head and seer and look out, which is to has in your head and not for to see-just contrarie." A gentleman sutered a bachelor's room and, looking around, said-" Very snug." "Yes," answered the bachelor, " rather too saug. But I suppose if I had had a better half, I might have had better quar-

" Nothing was so much dreaded in our schoolboy days," says a distinguished author, "as to be punished by sitting between two girls." Ab, the force of education ! In after years we learn to submit to such things without shedding a tear. Lord Beaconsfield was recently congratulated by a brother peer upon his translation to the Upper House. "I feel," said the Premier, "like a man already dead, and "-for he suddenly remembered that he was addressing a poor-" in the realms of bliss." M. Bartillon, the Prench statistician, says that it France wealth increases largely every year, while population remains almost stationary; in Germany, on the other hand, it is population that is growing rapidly, and wealth that remains almost stationary. Though years bring with them wisdom, yet there is one lesson the aged seldom learn-namely, the management of youthful feelings. Age is all head, youth all heart; age reasons, youth feels; age acts under the influence of disappointment, youth under the dominion of hope. A three-year-old girl was taught to close her evening prayer, during the absence of her father, with, " and please watch over my papa." It sounded very sweet, but the mother's amezement may be i magined, when she added : "And you had better keep an eye on mamma, too." A Russian engineer has invented a bomb-proof artillerists set and pelt the enemy with destruction.

under the presidency of Victor Hugo, contains the names of almost all the literary celebrities of the day, including George Eliot. The committee have asked permission to place the statue in the square St. Michael, near the Luxembourg. Birds killed on the Western prairies, packed closely with paper in barrels, and without any freezing or ther artificial process of preservation, now go regularly to Leadenhall, and are sold and eaten in the dining rooms of London and the West, side by side with the much more expensive patridges and fowls which are reared in England. The late Mr. Hart devoted himself for many years to his statue of the ideal woman. One day an acquaintance in Italy spoke to him of the long time be had given to the work. "Well," said he, smilingly, "since it takes Nature eighteen years to make a beautiful woman, why should I finish my work more ritual senare that the medium name the articles in his wife's upper bureau drawer. The medium said [the spirits would repeat the contents of Webster's dictionary or any other light task, but that life was too short to attempt the task proposed, and the rash proposer was burried out of the hall.

Mr. William Malley, a member of the Arctic expedition under Captain Narce, in relating his experiences, said that among the few mon who escaped scurry, and did any sledging worthy of notice, were four testotaliers, who enjoyed perfect immunity from all sickness, establishing beyond the shadow of a doubt that the intense cold of the polar regions could be well endured without stimulants.

The lately deceased Henri Monnier stood once upon the beach at a watering-place near an old man and his wife, who were viewing the ocean for th first time. "What purries me," said the old lady, " is the perpetual movement of the sea-the wavesthe tide." " Madame." said Mounier, solemnly, " that motion is produced by the fish. This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, reflieves pain, calms the system, restores the decauged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretices of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisits. Thousands of passans testify to its marrelines good effects and winderful corres, while medical men extel its virtues most catessively, same it in great quantities in the following diseases:—Cholera, Dynamicry, Distribus, Collics, Conglia, Actions, Riesanatiem, Neuraligia, Whooping Congli, Cramp Hysteria, Ac.

Extract from Section Franc. Jan. 12, 1868.—"Chirodynas in prescribed by scores of orthodox medical practitioners. Of course it would not thus be singularly popular did it not 'amply a want and fill a place."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholern—"So strongly are we constinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of also points it in all cases."

The Basis of Our Business

CHLORODYNE THE PUBLIC ARE CAUTIONED AGAINST The unfounded statements fraquently made, "that the composition of Chicogoryas is known to Chemists and the Medical profession." The fact is, Chicogoryas was discovered and invented by Dr. J. Col.Lif. Sindow NE few Army Medical Staff., and so named by bim, and it has builled all attempts at analysis by the first Chemists of the day. The method and secret of the preparation have Dever been published. It is obvious, therefore, that anything soil under the name, save Dr. J. Col.Lif. BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, is a spurious initiation.
